Glossary of Terms for Matrix

Standards

Established rules that are used to make sure that systems are interoperable, or compatible.

Security

Equipment, software, and rules used to make sure data and networks are protected from unauthorized access.

Confidentiality

Assurance of privacy in an electronic transaction. Information that is confidential will require user authentication (reasonable measures taken to ensure that the person is who that person says they are).

Transaction Processing

An electronic exchange of goods, services, and data.

Electronic Funds Transfer

Electronic processes which allow the secure exchange of funds.

Internet

A global computer network that allows millions of users to effectively communicate and share resources and information no matter what type of computer they use.

Information Exchange

Two-way sharing of information.

Database Sharing

Information stored on a database that be accessed by groups other than the group responsible for maintaining the database. Authentication may or may not be required to access this database.

Statute Change Required

A change in law, rules, or other policy is needed to complete the project.
